Held annually for more than 50 years at the Asilomar Conference Center in Pacific Grove on the Monterey coast, the Asilomar Great Books Weekend includes four Great Books discussions, a reception for first-time attendees, and a party on Saturday evening.

It is a weekend not to be missed and long to be remembered.

PARTY LIKE IT'S 1959!

To help celebrate the 60th anniversary of Great Books at Asilomar, we've chosen to take a fresh look at works published in 1959, the event's first year.

Selected Poetry

As usual, we'll kick off the Asilomar weekend with an evening of poetry discussion.

Non-Fiction: The Two Cultures by C. P. Snow

Snow's lecture describing Western culture's split between science and the humanities was hugely influential, and became the subject of countless re-examinations. With the benefit of 60 years of hindsight, let's take a fresh look at his thesis.

Fiction: Billiards at Half-Past Nine by Heinrich Böll

Thirteen years after the publication of Billiards, Böll was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature. This seminal work by Germany's preeminent postwar writer uses a complex, interwoven narrative to examine themes that still seem very relevant in 2019.

Play: The Possessed by Albert Camus

Camus adapted Dostoevsky's novel Demons for the stage, financing the first production in part using the money he received with his 1957 Nobel Prize.

Arrival and Departure: Registration at the conference will be between 3:00 and 5:30 on Friday, April 26. The conference will conclude after lunch on Sunday, April 28.

What's Included: The registration price covers lodging, six meals and books. Prices vary based on single, double, triple or quad occupancy. All rooms have private baths.

Refunds: Cancellation notices postmarked before February 1 will receive refunds less $50 for books and handling costs. Cancellations after that date will receive no refunds.

Added Attractions: On Saturday there will be a party with entertainment, refreshments and a good time for all.

Box Lunches: Box lunches are available instead of lunch at the Dining Hall on Saturday and Sunday, but they must be ordered when you register (see the checkboxes on the registration form).
